Interfaith Forum Carlisle

Short description of event:

The Programme for the weekend will be as follows: Saturday 16th November 2013

10 am—11 am Repentance – Is this part of your faith path? Does repentance change anything and what outcome do we seek?

11 am—11.30 am Break

11.30 am—12.30 pm Forgiveness – for oneself and also towards each other. What is the nature of forgiveness and how does it affect our spiritual health?

12.30 pm—1.30 pm Lunch

1.30 pm—2.30 pm Prayer – our own personal prayer practice as well as any corporate expressions of prayer.

2.30 pm—3.00 pm Break

3.00 pm—4.00 pm Stillness/Silence/ Meditation – Does this have a role in each faith? How do we use stillness and silence and are they the same? What happens during meditation? Is it a formal or informal part of your faith?

4.00 pm Social Time and departure time for first day

6.30 pm Evening Meal for those staying over. Hot and cold drinks will be available throughout the evening.

Sunday 17th November 2013

10 am—11 am Physical Health and Well-Being – how far does our physical health affect our spiritual health and what steps can we take to ensure our spiritual health is not adversely affected by our physical state.

11 am—11.30 am Break

11.30 am—12.30 pm Faith in Action – two parts: reflecting back to our own faith community our activities and insights gained from the Interfaith Forum and our role and programme in schools.

12.30 pm—1.30 pm Lunch

1.30 pm—2.30 pm Teaching – the two sides of teaching: imparting of the deeper truths of one's faith and the pastoral care of members of our community.

2.30 pm—3.00 pm Break

3.00 pm—4.00 pm Praise and Thanksgiving – is this part of each faith or is it limited to only certain faiths?

4.30 pm—4.30 pm Aftab Khan will show a documentary film from Kashmir showing the impact of political division and how this affects the faith communities and their ability to visit sacred places of their choice. It is a real world out there where division exists on all levels.

Name of Event: Women and Faith, Who is the oppressor? Religion or Men?

Organisation(s) holding the event:

Woking People of Faith; Surrey County Council Community Partnerships Team

Short description of event:

At the beginning of National Interfaith week and the week when the Church of England voted on legislation to allow women bishops, Woking People of Faith gathered to consider the subject of Women in Faith. The deliberately provocative title 'Who is the oppressor, Religion or Men?' was explored by three excellent speakers from three different faith perspectives. Mrs Lisa Levine, a solicitor and member of the North West Surrey Synagogue, offered perspectives on women in the Jewish faith. Mrs Hilary Cotton, consultant and vice chair of the national organisation Women and The Church, explored historical developments which have influenced attitudes to women in the Christian faith. Mrs Kauser Akhtar, advisor to Surrey Faith Links, articulated the differences between culture and Islam – and invited her audience to experience wearing a head covering for an hour. Sixty people from different faith groups (and none) participated in the presentations, question time and lively discussion which continued over delicious tea and cake. An excellent children's entertainer looked after the children while adults listened to the speakers. Woking People of Faith works to build friendships between people of different faiths and cultures in order to facilitate understanding and challenge barriers which arise from assumptions and misinformation. Those who attended commented that 'This was a wonderful, stimulating session which I hope will impact on women's roles in the future – I learned a great deal.' and 'It was thought-provoking and good to see/hear different responses across these three major faiths – an opportunity to contrast and compare which left plenty to think about and discuss with others. Please organise more events like these!'

Chairperson, Somia Shafiq wrote 'This was a fantastic event. I really enjoyed the talks, everyone was engaged in the discussion and I know that the children's entertainer was a hit because my friend who could not stay right until the end struggled to convince her daughter to leave. Well done all.'

The event was held on Sunday 17th November 2013 at the Parkview Community Centre, Sheerwater, and was attended by 60 adults from at least 6 different faith groups, and some who do not profess faith.

Name of Event: Welcoming the Convert in Wales

Organisation(s) holding the event:

Evangelical Alliance Wales with the support of the Alliance for Peace; the Middle Path; Cardiff City of Sanctuary.

Short description of event:

"In the globalised society in which we live we are going to see more and more people in our communities who have converted from one faith to another or who have converted to a faith from a non-faith background. Most - if not all - of our faiths in Wales will have converts in their communities. Yet converts can sometimes be vulnerable - finding their new faith community strange while also being distanced from their old faith community. They can sometimes be a minority within a minority.

"Through the event we want to communicate that we welcome religious converts in our societies in Wales. We want the topic of religious conversion to be something that can be talked about freely and openly rather than being a taboo subject."

"A multi-sensory performance in the spectacular setting of York Minster." Rudra weaves contemporary music and dance with an ancient mythological story taken from the Indian Vedic period. Rudra is another expression of Lord Shiva as the destroyer of evils in the Indian pantheon of gods. Rudra is glorified as the Lord of Dance and Music.

Musical composition by Shri Sriram (of Badmarsh and Shri fame). Shri's recent work includes music for the promotional trailer of the feature film "Life of Pi". Choreography by Sonia Sabri, working and presenting kathak dance in new ways. Live musicians include Jesse Bannister on saxophone, RR. Prathap on mridangam (South Indian drum) and Kartik Raghunathan on violin. Melissa Thompson a graduate flautist from the region and developing musician will also accompany the team. RUDRA is led by Supriya Nagarajan, Artistic Director of Manasamitra who also lends her voice to the score.

Manasamitra is an Indian arts organisation based in Yorkshire.

RUDRA premieres at York Minster this autumn before touring to seven venues across Yorkshire and Humber in 2014.

Rudra is supported using public funding by the National Lottery through Arts Council England. It is one of three productions comprising Manasamitra's Strategic Touring programme 2013 - 16.

Short description of event:

"In the last decade the UK has led the way in the west for new trends in veiling fashion. At work and at play the public spaces of Britain are enlivened by young women working seasonal high street trends as part of their cool hijabi ensembles. But these style innovations are never included in the regular celebrations of British street style.

"Overwhelmingly the Muslim veil is regarded only as a controversial symbol never as fashion. Under-represented on the style pages and over-represented on the news pages images of women wearing visibly Muslim clothing serve as a shorthand for the perceived lack of social integration among Britain's Muslims. Muslim clothes are positioned as the temporal and spatial other of 'western' fashion – less about individuated modern identities than emblematic of unchanging historical collective communities, with some Muslims themselves identifying 'ethnic' dress with religious integrity.

"This presentation discusses how fashion is being used by young Muslim women in the formation of new identifications as Muslim that are often specifically western, and specifically British."

Name of Event: Zen Weekend: An Introduction to Zen Mediation (part 1 of 2)

Organisation(s) holding the event:

York Interfaith Group;

Short description of event:

An opportunity to discover how to meditate simply by paying attention to the breath as an aid to the wordless and imageless prayer of contemplation. The sessions will be led by Father Patrick Kundo Eastman Sensei a Roman Catholic priest and authorised Zen teacher. There will be teaching about how to meditate - no previous experience is necessary. If you already meditate and have a mat and/or a cushion please bring these with you. Otherwise sitting will be on upright chairs. The sessions will be free but a contribution to the costs of Fr Patrick's travelling expenses would be welcome, according to means. Please bring something to contribute to a shared lunch (e.g. bread, biscuits, cheese, houmous, fruit etc.) on the Saturday.

For the last 50 years or more, Christians who have been introduced to Zen have found the practice a very considerable aid to deepen and enhance their own Christian faith. Yamada Roshi, for example, a great Japanese Zen Master, said to all his Christian Students " I am not trying to make you a Buddhist, but to empty you in imitation of your Lord, Jesus Christ."
